Wintersemester/winter semester 2024/25

In the winter term 2024/25, our chair offers a "Schwerpunktseminar" on regional economics. The topics for the seminar are drawn from recent publications in leading international journals and cover questions of urban and regional economics, transport economics and local public finance.

The participants of the seminar have to craft a term paper based on a specific topic and present their work during the seminar. There will be a general discussion after the presentation. Two important notes: (1) Students can (and are encouraged to) conduct an own empirical study. (2) The language of the term paper and the seminar is English. Knowledge in econometrics and empirical research is recommended.
